MC 400 – CHARM AND STYLE FOR YOUR AMBIENCE

“Imagine you have to develop an entertainment device for the modern living room. It should do almost every job that arises and can be imagined in good quality and yet still be reasonably affordable for most people, plus bring charm and style to the ambience. There is, because Magnat has already done this job and proudly presents the MC 400.”

“The jack-of-all-trades sounds surprisingly powerful and sonorous, while also delivering fine details, a very balanced and majority-capable tuning that combines body, tightness and charm, and - surprise, surprise - copes well with most speakers not too low efficiency. Even complex large orchestral works such as Dvorák, Orff and Strauss are presented well illuminated and served with punch, the Magnat by no means starving even excellent, apparently oversized floorstanding speakers such as DALI’s Epicon 6.”

“And delicate vocals like Cara Dilion’s enchant the room, projected wide and deep. Moderate output with audiophile echoes, what more could you want.”

“Magnat’s MC 400 offers practically everything you could want. Phono, DAC, high-resolution streaming, Bluetooth, three-way radio, TV sound. More hardly goes - and that is thus a whole lot, functionally almost no matter at what price. And it’s hot!”

“That this all-round carefree package also sounds really good in the process and even reveals audiophile ambitions is all the more remarkable.”

Conclusion:

“Solid all-rounder at a reasonable price. It offers phono, DAC, three radios, streaming and rudimentary multiroom and still sounds good. The ideal small (two) system something for hobby cellar, vacation home or youth room.”
